For strut profile systems the retaining ring with base (1) is used. This Ring is simply inserted into the slot of the profile.
For attaching on surfaces or other profile systems the retaining ring with screw (2) is supposed to be used.

At delivery condition the retaining rings are open; the closing part is connected undetachably with the ring part. Of the remaining ring there are still 270 degree left, so cables or tubes can be put conveniently put in any arbitrary position, no matter if horizontally, vertically or up side down.
